5,200 Flats to Be Built in Year Under State Housing Plan

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Wednesday. — The conclusion of the first stage of the Government's popular housing scheme with the construction of 6,300 flats and the immediate commencement of the second phase to construct 5,200 flats, was announced today by Mr. Itzhak Eilam, Director-General of the Ministry of Labour, Mr. David Teneh, Director of the Ministry's Housing Division, stated that with the ending of the year, the Ministry will have built 100,000 dwelling units since the establishment of the State.

The cost of the new flats will be IL400 higher to include increases in workers' wages, in the cost of locally made building materials (except cement) and the cost of constructing air-raid shelters. By an explicit agreement, all other charges, such as those for local play areas, will remain fixed for popular housing.

In the new scheme, the Government will be supplementing IL500 by the housing company executing the building as against IL300 hitherto.

Flats of two-and-a-half or three rooms will cost between IL4,000 and IL4,500 in slightly varying areas, while an average of IL2,500 is to be supplied before taking possession.

An "annuity" was also announced today for all those who two years ago paid their IL100 in advance for the scheme but failed to add the other payments demanded from them. They would now be entitled to re-apply for the housing. No new applicants can be considered as the lists are full.

The 6,300 flats built during the first stage are now being occupied and within three months all would be completed; 3,000 were built in the Tel Aviv area, 1,500 in Haifa, 800 in Jerusalem, and 1,000 in smaller localities.

Mr. Eilam, Director of the Housing Division, stated that the building of the new flats is a development of the previous ones, thus developing the blocks of buildings into large quarters complete with shopping centres, schools, kindergartens and parks.

Teachers Pay Rise Considered

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Ministry of Education is considering adjusting teachers' salaries following the rise in the basic pay of civil servants, it was disclosed in Jerusalem, but so far the Ministry has rejected a similar claim on behalf of secondary school personnel.

The increase, affecting 12,000 employees, would cost the Treasury IL900,000 for elementary school staff and IL400,000 for kindergarten, primary and other teachers in "recognized" schools outside the State network.

Two years ago, the Ministry had agreed with the Teachers' Union to equalize the salaries of teachers in the Government system with those of civil servants. Since then, the Ministry has not done so, although it has increased the salaries of secondary schools, it fixes the wage scale for teachers and has the power to withhold increases.

During consultations with the Union, it appeared that the Ministry was unwilling to grant seniority benefits on the same rating as they are calculated in the Civil Service. Teachers begin at grade ten and with seniority receive automatic promotion to grade seven, where a civil servant would be up-grading on their merits alone.

If the revised scale is accepted, basic salaries will begin at IL250 a month and rise to IL1,100 after 21 years of service. The Treasury has urgently requested the Ministry of Education to examine the wage scale of school inspectors who are among the highest-paid officials in the Government, with a view to reducing, or at least "freezing" their salaries.

The Central Committee of the Israel Communist Party, which met in Tel Aviv last week, adopted a series of resolutions summing up the Party's stand on current affairs. The Communist Party, according to a communiqué, requests the Government to abolish military rule; to "deny recognition and cooperation to U.N. Observers," and to adopt a policy of support for the Arab people's fight for national freedom.

Some of the resolutions have already been voiced by Communist M.K.s, such as opposition to the request for reparations from East Germany.

The resolutions give full support to demonstrations recently held against rising prices, and demand that the Government and Social Welfare authorities.

A pessimistic note was struck in the report on the Party's Press. The drive for 1,500 new subscribers to the Party's weekly publication is also threatened because of lack of funds, the communiqué said.

'Gifts from Abroad' Root of Corruption

By SHAYAT SHAPIRO, Jerusalem Post Parliamentary Reporter

Presents from abroad and imports without foreign currency allocations "are the source of corruption" which involves many an innocent and law-abiding citizen by the sheer fact that it is so widespread, complained in the Knesset yesterday.

The occasion was a debate which preceded the routine adoption by the Knesset of increased customs on liquor and sweets, as issued by the Ministry of Finance at the end of last year.

Mr. Israel Guri, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said that the Ministry of Finance's misgivings in fact Mr. Guri added on the previous day the Finance Committee had begun the examination of a new import policy in line with the recommendations of the Economic Committee on restricting non-essential imports.

"Some products which we could easily deny ourselves," he said, "are imported into the country in virtue of international trade agreements," Mr. Guri stated.

Mr. Shlomo said that some imports were, in fact, currency smuggling. Certain charitable institutions sometimes received imports free of duty, and later the goods found their way to the market, he alleged.

Dr. Y. Bader (Herut) also played the inconsistencies of the present customs tariffs.

Mr. H. Ariav (General Zionists) during Dr. Bader's speech, remarked jokingly from his seat that the high customs duties are assured by the speaker from getting drunk.

"Those who are interested in these inconsistencies must be concerned," Mr. Ariav remarked, "beforehand by much they would gain by the new schedule," Dr. Bader replied tartly.

Amendment Passed

The Knesset yesterday adopted the amendment, permitting the State Comptroller not to divulge to the House such information on the Ministry of Defence which might endanger the country's security. The Comptroller's report was tabled by the Finance Committee's remarks, within four-and-a-half months after its completion, according to the new Law.

The House voted down a motion for the agenda, introduced by Miss E. Wilenska (Communist), to discuss the administration of the Ministry of Defence in the House.

The Secretary of the Communist cell, Ibrahim of Falmawi, leading a group of 20 villagers, had prevented a representative of the Ministry of Agriculture from dividing a tract of 20 dunams among Arab refugees living in Tamra village, the Minister of Agriculture, Mr. P. Levanon, told the House.

Administrative detention was authorized by law, Mr. Lavon said, and the civil rights of the detainees are assured by the fact that a legal commission, headed by a District Court Judge, examined every decision of the Military Governor.

Dr. Bader announced that his party was preparing a motion for a Bill to abolish all Mandatory Laws on administrative imprisonment.
